Create Your Own G&T

*The name GIN comes from the word “genièvre” (French), “jenever” (Dutch), and “ginepro” (Italian), all of which meaning “juniper” in English. Gin is a spirit which derives its predominant flavour from juniper berries (Juniperus communis). From its earliest origins in the Middle Ages, gin has evolved over the course of a millennium from a herbal medicine to an object of desire in the spirits industry. Gin was developed on the basis of the older Jenever becoming widely popular in Great Britain during the time of William the Orange.*

The drink TONIC gained its name from the medicinal effects of its bitter flavoring. The quinine was added to the drink as a prophylactic against malaria, since it was originally intended for consumption in tropical areas of South Asia and Africa, where the disease is endemic.

A DIGESTIF is usually small and alcoholic beverage drunk at the end of a meal, most commonly dinner. Digestif comes from the French language, although it's fairly common throughout Southern European countries. Some believe that such digestifs aid digestion, as the name might suggest. A digestif generally will have a higher alcohol content. Digestifs are usually drunk neat or as cocktails often based on spirits such as cognac, armagnacs, brandies, grappas, whiskies, herb-flavored liqueurs and similar.

Whisky has two legitimate spellings.

"Whisky" is used in Scotland and Canada, and "Whiskey" is used by Irish and Americans.

Distillation process, the key segment of whisky production was invented around four thousand years ago in the ancient civilizations of Babylon and Mesopotamia. Whisky can age only in wooden casks. In glass bottles it can survive for 100 years, but it will not change its flavor. Cheers.
